New Database Provider For OhioLINK

Databases. Effective July 1, 2002, OhioLINK will convert to a new database provider for several important databases. Please follow this link for details.

New at OhioLINK: Greek and Latin "Squeezes" Available in the DMC \(August 29, 2002\)

In short:

- Ebsco has more titles and more full text.
- Ebsco has the strongest set of academic and peer-reviewed material.
- Ebsco has larger back files than the other two vendors
- Comparisons based on sets of titles appropriate to our community all result in superior results for Ebsco.
- In the marketplace Ebsco appears to have taken a more dominant position, especially in similar statewide situations.

TOM SANVILLE, OhioLINK

New Database Provider for OhioLINK

Effective July 1, 2002

OhioLINK will convert to a new database producer for several important databases. Effective July 1, we will discontinue databases from ProQuest Information and Learning, and add databases from EBSCO Information Services.

Databases to be cancelled 7/1/02

- Periodical Abstracts
- ABI/Inform
- Newspaper Abstracts

In the marketplace Ebsco appears to have taken a more dominant position, especially in statewide situations. In a similar RFP process last year Texas chose Ebsco for academics and public libraries. They also concluded Ebsco has more and better content.

Other examples: Pennsylvania (all schools, public libraries and state-funded academics), West Virginia (all public libraries and nearly all academics), Kentucky (all schools, public libraries and academics), Indiana (all schools, public libraries and academics), Illinois (all academics), Wisconsin (all schools, public libraries and academics), Iowa (all schools, public libraries and nearly all academics), and Missouri (all schools, public libraries and academics).
